Paul transferred to the Bar in 2021 following a successful career as a litigation solicitor, where Paul headed up the dispute resolution team at a leading law firm.

Paul regularly acts and advises in high value, complex proceedings both in the county courts and the High Court. Paul's expertise covers property litigation (both residential and commercial), complex contract disputes, actions in negligence, company and commercial law, insolvency proceedings and contentious probate.

Paul is an Accredited Mediator and noted as a specialist in Alternative Dispute Resolution. Paul has settled hundreds of disputes over the years, using various means, including mediation and negotiation. Paul is adept at finding solutions to seemingly entrenched matters.

Paul is qualified to represent clients on a "Direct Access" basis.

Outside of work Paul is a CrossFit Level 1 Trainer. Paul regularly coaches fitness classes and competes (and judges) in CrossFit competitions.

Business and Property Law

Paul regularly acts for landlords and tenants alike in both residential and commercial property disputes. Paul's expertise includes claims for possession of property and forfeiture proceedings, claims relating to the termination and renewal of commercial leases, disrepair and dilapidation claims, proceedings relating to breaches of rights of way (including injunctive proceedings) and claims against trespassers.

Paul represents companies, directors and shareholders in matters arising out of contract and negligence, as well as issues pertaining to companies' internal affairs.

Paul also routinely acts and advises in disputed bankruptcy and corporate insolvency proceedings, as well as subsequent claims relating to the mismanagement of company business.
